Section 2 - The Nature Of Classified Advertising

What is a successful classified advertisement?

Classified advertising is one of the most cost effective promotional tools any business can use. It commands greater confidence than almost any other form of advertising. The true beauty of the classified sections in most newspapers, is that the people who are looking in them are doing so because they want to buy a product or service.

Unlike normal print advertising where you're trying to convince people that they need what you're selling, the people reading the classifieds have already made the decision to buy. They're qualified customers looking for a deal, all you have to do is get them to deal with you. So what makes a successful classified advertisement?

Basically any classified advertisement that pays for itself can be considered successful. That's not to say that our objective is to spend $100 and get $100 worth of sales as a result of it. What you need to understand is the lifetime value of each customer who responds to your ad.

Your acquisition cost is determined how much your classified advertisement cost, divided by how many customers it brings into your store. Once you've calculated this figure you can then work out how many times each customer needs to purchase from you before they become profitable. In the average business this will mean selling to them 2.5 times before you begin to make a profit.

With this in mind you need to focus on bringing the customer back on a regular basis. Therefore any classified advertisement which covers its cost initially will turn out to be profitable in the long term.

What makes a successful classified ad?

There are a number of key elements which combined, go to making up a successful classified advertisement. The most important of these is the headline. You'll find out how to write effective headlines in section 3. Another important consideration is the offer you're making. No matter how well written your classified advertisement is, without a great offer it will not work.

In the following pages you'll learn how to write headlines that work, how to position your advertisement for maximum exposure and which type faces have the best recognition. You'll discover which category your classified advertisement should appear under, what size to use and which benefits, angles and appeals work best.

Section 3 - The 7 Steps To Classified Advertising Success

Who (Are Your Target Market)?

If you don't know who your target market are, it's almost impossible to attract them. Imagine trying to get a date without knowing which gender you're interested in. You'd have to take the 'let's see' approach.

Unfortunately, the 'let's see' method of advertising tends to fail every time. You won't see anything, especially in the way of new customers.

You need to know exactly who you're dealing with, what they're interested in and what's going to make them buy your product. If you don't know, you're really just taking your chances.

So let's get specific - who are the people most likely to be interested in your product or service. Here are some guidelines ...

Age: How old are they? Don't just say 'all ages' or 'a variety'. We want to create a picture in mind of your average customer. Think of an age that symbolizes most of your customers.

Sex: Are they male or female? 'Half and half' is too broad. Practically every business is split one way or the other. Give it some real thought - which gender spends more with you and visits more often.

Income: How much do they make? Do they earn a great living, meaning that quality is the big issue, or are they scraping for every dollar, always looking for a deal. It's essential that you find this out.

Where do they live: Are they local, or do they come from miles around to deal with you? This will dictate how you communicate with them.

Where (To run your classified advertisement)?

Now you've identified the 'who' you need to find a publication that reaches them. There may be a number of seemingly suitable publications. To find out which of them works best for you, try them all and then test and measure the results.

Newspapers are among the most common classified advertising mediums for the small to medium sized business, although some trade publications may also have a section for classifieds. Newspaper advertising can be quite expensive particularly in metropolitan markets. Basically there are 2 types of newspapers for you to choose from although there may only be one in some regional centres.

Daily Newspapers ...

The first of these are Daily newspapers. These are papers that are printed 6 or 7 days a week. Circulation can vary greatly from day to day. For example a papers circulation (number of papers sold each day), may be 45,000 on a Saturday and only 23,500 on a Monday.

Weekly Newspapers ...

The second type are Weekly newspapers. These are only printed once a week and are quite often delivered free of charge to the home. Because Weekly newspapers are delivered to specific areas they can be a great advertising tool for businesses such as tradesmen, accountants, hairdressers etc.

Daily newspapers tend to have a larger circulation because their articles are more up to date. They will also tend to attract wealthier demographics than weekly papers. If you're selling more expensive items, luxury services or have a sale that only lasts a few days, then daily newspapers are definitely more effective than weekly publications.

If you're selling less expensive items, or clearing out old stock, then weekly papers can bring a good response. It's also worth keeping in mind that many people, actually refer to their weekly paper when looking for certain services, rather than the Yellow Pages. This is because it's easier to find tradesmen or service people in a specific suburb by looking through a local paper, than it is by wading through all the entries listed in the Yellow Pages.

Magazines ...

Because most magazines are national publications they will generally be very expensive, and the majority of them won't have a classified section. The major benefit of classified advertising in magazines is that they target people with specific interests. Magazines are great if you sell your product nationally or have a high price, target specific product or service.

For example a company who manufactures bullbars could advertise in the classified of a 4WD magazine, or a hose manufacturer could advertise in the classified section of a gardening magazine. Magazine advertising can also be very effective for companies who sell by mail order.

Trade Journals ...

Trade journals are one of the least expensive forms of print advertising. Companies advertising in these publications have the advantage of being able to reach a very specific market. Whilst this is a benefit it can also be a limitation as they generally won't have a very high readership. To use trade journals effectively you need to have a great offer. Keep in mind that not all trade journals will have a classified section.

In addition to the number of publications you have to choose from, you'll also have a number of classifications to decide between. An example of the sections that you'd find in a typical daily newspaper would be:

- Accessories for Motor Vehicles
- Accommodation
- Amusements
- Anniversaries
- Announcements
- Antiques
- Auctions
- Birthdays
- Births
- Business For Sale
- Business Opportunities
- Caravans and Trailers
- Church Notices

- Christmas Greetings
- Commercial and Industrial Properties

- Sub-Contracting Vacancies
- Tradesmen
- Training and Tuition
- Twenty First Birthdays
- Trucks and Machinery
- Thank You Notices
- Tenders
- Wanted To Buy
- Wanted To Rent
- Wedding
- Work Wanted

These are just some of the many categories you may have to choose from. You need to make sure that you place your ad in the section where people will be looking for that product or service. If no suitable category exists, then place your advertisement in another section that might be read by your target market.

What (Do You Want To Say)?

There's no such thing as 'image advertising'. This is the term newspapers and marketing people give to advertising that doesn't do a thing or make you a cent.

This kind of 'Hi, our name is this, we sell this type of product, our phone number is this' classified advertising is a waste of time.

You need to say something to your potential readers - that is, there must be a strong message, that you're to get across to people. This may be in the form of a strong offer you want to make, an important point of difference, a list of the benefits of dealing with you or something unusual about your product.

It's essential that WHAT you say is appealing to WHO you are trying to say it to. For example, giving away a skateboard with each walking frame sold, probably won't work. Giving away an arthritis ointment however, would probably get great results.

Let's deal with each type of message, one by one ...

Strong Offer: This is the most commonly used, and the one that tends to work the best. Remember that people are generally looking for the product or service that offers the best value for money, therefore an ad with an offer that stops them in their tracks can get outstanding results. See section 4 for more detail.

Point Of Difference: Can work well when there is a large market for your product, and many competitors. For example, if you are advertising a 'steak and seafood' restaurant, you'd be hard pressed to stand out. But what if your steakhouse had live entertainment, free drinks from 7pm and the best view in town? That would be worth promoting.

Listing The Benefits: If you don't have a strong offer or point of difference, listing the benefits of dealing with you may do the trick. For example, a plumber could list the 4 ways they give better service, or a beauty salon could emphasise the 6 ways a prospect's skin will improve after one visit. Most importantly, you must relate the benefits to the customer - remember, always write your classified ad about their favorite subject - THEM.

How (to write your classified advertisement)

Now that we've covered the basics, it's time to get into the nuts and bolts of how to write your classified advertisement.

There are 3 basic types of classified advertisements. Number one is a display classified advertisement, which is very similar to a standard print advertisement. The second type is called a semi-display advertisement, which is basically a line ad with a border around it. And lastly, there's the straight forward line ad, that are commonly used for private sales.

Headline ...

The most important part of your advertisement is the headline. David Ogilvy, one of the all time great direct response copywriters, once said that 10 times as many people will read the headline as will read the rest of the ad. So if you get the headline wrong you can kiss 90% of your advertising dollars goodbye.

You will find out more about writing headlines in section 3. One of the things you need to keep in mind when running a display classified advertisement, is that the headline needs to take up at least 25% of the total size of your advertisement. If however you're running a simple line ad, your headline, or first word, should immediately tell the consumer what it is you're trying to sell.

Type faces ...

The type face or font that you use in your advertisement, can make a big difference to the results you achieve. The 2 basic types are Sans Serif and Serif fonts.

Sans Serif fonts don't have the little "feet" at the bottom of each letter. Studies have shown that people find these fonts far more difficult to read than serif fonts. Serif type has the little "feet" or "hooks" at the bottom of each letter. These "feet" appear to form a line under the words that your eye can follow. If you want people to read your classified advertisement, then use a serif type face.

The most common type of serif font is Times New Roman. Find out the font used by the publication your ad's running in and then have your ad set in the that font.

Point Size ...

The size of the font you use is referred to as point size. Studies have shown that readership does not drop off between 14 to 7 1/2 point size. As a general rule 10 - 9 points are ideal. However, if you're running a line ad, you may wish to use an impact headline which would be a much larger point size. You'll learn more about this in section 3.

Highlighting text ...

Use bold type to highlight key points in your copy, headlines and sub-headlines. Italics can also be used to highlight key areas of text, although it can be hard to read and should only be used sparingly. Never use all capitals. The only time you can use all capitals is in a short, or impact headline, or for extra emphasis of a key word.

If you're running a display advertisement, you may wish to break your copy into paragraphs as this will make it easier to read. Indenting your paragraphs, rather than leaving a line between them, can cut down on wasted space. Also consider using a drop cap first letter, this is a great way to attract the eye of your customer.

Sub-headlines ...

Sub-headlines have 3 major benefits ...

1. They break up large blocks of text making them easier to read. If your display classified advertisement looks like one big 'chunk' of text it can put people off reading it. By using sub-headlines you can break your copy up and give it some 'space'.
2. They allow someone skimming over your classified ad to only read the points that interest them.
3. They spark the readers interest. If your headline doesn't get them in completely you can get a second chance with your sub-headlines.

It is important that your sub-headlines tell a story. Your sub-headlines need to be able to convey your message to those people who are just browsing over your ad. Obviously you would only use sub-headlines in display classified advertisements, as line ads are normally not long enough to warrant them.

Body Copy ...

You only get one chance with a potential customer, so your first few words are crucial. You must get your reader interested immediately, with the very first paragraph. If they're not excited after the first 50 words they won't read the rest of your ad.

Use the bare minimum of copy to get your message across, don't waffle on. But make sure that you include enough information to get your reader interested enough to call you. You should never tell the whole story in your ad. Tell them as much as you need, to get them to call. By holding back some information you make it necessary for them to call you to find out more.

Your ad should tell your prospects exactly what it is that you're trying to sell them. When you finish writing your ad, get someone to look over it and critique it for you. Only make one offer in your ad but make it exciting.

Abbreviations ...

Using abbreviations in line and semi-display classified ads, is an effective way to cut down on your costs. You also must be careful though, not to abbreviate the words in your ad to the extent where the reader will become confused. Only use abbreviations that are common, and people are familiar with. For example ...

- access -accessories
- excel cond - excellent condition
- vgc - very good condition
- rrp - recommended retail price
- BH - business hours
- AH - after hours
- alum - aluminium
- 4 WD - four wheel drive
- good cond - good condition
- p-steer - power steering
- ac - air conditioning
- cc - cruise control
- kms - kilometers
- auto - automatic
- SWB - short wheel base
- LWB - long wheel base
- 2-m-o - two months old
- 1-y-o - one year old
- t-bred - thoroughbred
- ono - or nearest offer
- obo - or best offer
- hh - hands high
- reg - registered
- Lic No - license number

You may not be able to abbreviate some words by law. If you're uncertain you should check with your local paper.

Coupons ...

Coupons are a great way to measure the success of your campaign. If you're not getting coupons back then your classified ad's not working. Because many people will only briefly look over your display classified ad you need to repeat your offer in the coupon.

People will normally read the headline first, the sub-headlines next and then finally the coupon or PS. You can often get people to go back and read the copy by making a strong, clear offer in your coupon.

Borders ...

Most newspapers will have a wide variety of borders for you to choose from. Whilst an unusual border can help your ad stand out, one that is too elaborate, can get in the way of your selling message. A particularly successful, classified border is simply a dotted line around the ad. The reason it works so well is that people are used to cutting around dotted lines, so there's a greater chance that they'll cut out your ad and use it.

Pictures ...

Studies have shown that ads containing a picture that takes up between 25 - 75% of the total advertisement, have greater readership than those without one. You will need to put a fair amount of text in your ad so 25% is probably the ideal size. Don't use line drawings or clip art. Photographs get a much higher response than illustrations.

Consider putting a photo of yourself in the ad. People buy from people not companies, so let them see the person behind the company name. Place your photo so that it looks straight out off the page or towards your body copy. If your picture is looking into your ad, your potential customers will also be drawn into it.

Always put a caption under your photo. Everybody reads the captions so make sure you take advantage of this opportunity to get them into your ad. Once again this only applies to display classified advertisements.

If you're using a photograph of a similar make or model to the product you're selling, but not a photo of the actual product itself, you need to put - * Pictures for comparison only - at the bottom of your ad. This is particularly important when advertising motor vehicles. For example if you run a photo of a 1994 Ford Falcon with a roof rack, and the actual car you're selling doesn't have a roof rack, then it's important you indicate that the picture is only for a comparison.

Finding out what works ...

When you've finished your ad it's time to test and measure. Test your headline and offer by running small ads and measuring the response. Test the response you get to each headline and each offer and then combine the best ones and run your classified ad at full size.

Most companies will get tired of their ad before the consumer does. As long as your ad's working, don't change it. There is a constant turnover of readers for each publication, so stick to a successful formula for as long as you can. To get an idea of ads that are working, look for the ones that run day after day, week after week. If an ad's been running for a long time, chances are that it works.

How Big (Should Your Classified Ad Be)?

There's a lot more to working out a size than most people think. Usually, it's a case of 'How much can we afford?'

The question really should be 'How much do we want to make?'. If the ad is good enough, it should make you money - not drain your funds.

Basically when you're looking to run a classified advertisement, you have the choice between doing line ads, semi-display ads or display classified ads. Semi-display ads are basically just line ads with a border. So let's look at the size for each ...

Display Classified Advertisements ...

If you don't have an ad that you know works, you need to guess. You need to think about how many responses you need to 'break-even'. That means, how many sales do you need to pay back the advertising cost.

Here's how you work it out ...

First, you need to work out your average profit. To do this, measure the amount of profit in each sale, every day for 3 days. Then, find the average. If you want to skip the hard work, estimate this figure.

Next, choose a standard ad size. If it's a newspaper, find out the price on a 15 x 2 (15cm deep and 2 columns wide). If you're dealing with a magazine, get the price on a quarter page ad.

Now, divide the ad cost by your average profit. This will give you the number of sales you need to pay for the ad.

Here's an example ...

Let's say a hairdresser makes about $15 profit from each haircut. They take out an ad that costs $270. That means they need 18 new customers from the ad. Anything less and the ad is losing them money.

Of course, it's not a hard and fast rule that you must break even on every ad. In the case of the hairdresser, they'd probably be happy with 9 new loyal customers. After each customer has been in twice, they then become profitable.

This is called lifetime value -the amount a customer spends with you over the course of their lifetime. In the case of a business with a high level of repeat business (hairdresser, restaurant, mechanic), it might be worth losing money the first time, just to gain a new customer. This customer may ultimately be worth thousands.

If you get out of 'break-even' thinking and into 'lifetime value' mode, a whole new world of possibilities open up. If you're confident you'll get these new customers back again, you can afford to offer something incredible and make a dead loss the first time they come in.

Once you've established whether you have to break-even, or you can afford to rely on the lifetime value of the customer, you are then in a position to make a decision about size.

Let's look at a break-even situation first.

To decide how big your classified ad should be, you have to guess how many replies you're likely to get. This can be tricky, especially if you haven't had a lot of experience with advertising. In fact, even if you've advertised many times, it can still be tricky.

You can only really rely on what you've done before, what your competitors seem to get and your instinct.

In the end, it comes down to probability. Let's say you sell pizzas with a profit margin of $1.20. Taking out an ad that costs $120 means you need 100 new customers to pay for it. You need to judge whether that's likely to happen. If you ran an ad last year and got 5 replies, it's looking pretty improbable.

In some cases, you may realize that breaking even is near impossible, in which case you have to think about lifetime value, or advertising somewhere else.

The other thing to consider is this - papers and magazines with high rates usually have high readership. It's not as if you're paying more for nothing. If you go with a cheaper paper, you're likely to get a lower response rate.

Once you've weighed all that up, then consider how much space you actually need. How much text is in your ad? How big are the other ads on the page? Will you be seen if you go small? Do your pictures need to be a certain size?

If you need more space than you can reasonably afford, you may need to look at a different approach - that is, another creative approach. Perhaps you could take the picture out and trim some of the text.

Lastly, it's important to start small and work your way up. Do your ad big enough so it has a good chance of working, but not so big that you'll go bankrupt if it bombs. Take all that into account and decide upon a size for your first ad.

Semi-display and line ads ...

The same principle of lifetime value vs. the cost of the advertisement applies to these ads, as it does with display classified ads. The main consideration with these forms of ads, is the minimum number of words you need to get your message across.

Line ads are normally charged at $(x) / per line. For example if your advertisement was 7 lines long, and the line rate of that paper was $4.65 per line, then the total cost of your advertisement would be $32.55. The number of words you can fit on any one line, varies from paper to paper. Obviously the length of the words you choose will also make a difference.

To give you an example of how this works, let's look at a publication with a column width of 38cm. Using their average point size, you'll get 25 characters to one line. A character counts as anything from one letter to a full stop or space. So let's look at running an ad which said:

Television set, 51cm, color complete with stand, $150 o.n.o. Phone Tim on (00) 0000 0000.

This advertisement has 90 characters in it. Understanding that we can fit 25 characters to a line, this ad would therefore take up 3.6 lines. You can't have .6 of a line so it's rounded off to 4. If the line rate for that particular newspaper was $4.65 per line, this advertisement would cost you a total of $18.60. It's worth noting that using bold in the first one or two words will not normally cost any extra.

Line ads and semi-display ads, are an inexpensive form of advertising. They can also be a great way for you to test a publication before you start to run a full size, display classified advertisement.

When (To Run Your Ad)

If your product is perennial (that is, not seasonal), you don't have to be too concerned about when you run your ad. It's more a question of which day, rather than which time of year.

You'll probably pay different rates for different days. You need to take into consideration the circulation of the different papers, and how many more readers you're getting for your money.

Also, major newspapers usually have different lift-out sections each day of the week, some of which may have a classified section. You may want to place your ad in one of these special sections. This can yield good results, although many of your competitors might be right next to you.

If your business is seasonal, you need to approach advertising differently. For example, a swimming pool builder would find it fruitless running a 'summer ad' in winter. The business owner would need to adapt the appeal to suit the time of year.

The other consideration is major events - for instance, advertising sports merchandise the day before the grand final would work well. The number of times you run your advertisement in a week also needs to be considered, if you're advertising in a daily paper. Some days will normally have higher circulation than others, but repetition can also be useful. For example, a plumber who only advertised on a Wednesday, may miss out on some business if 3 people had plumbing problems on the Monday.

Most daily newspapers will offer special rates for customers who run the same advertisement a number of times in the same week. For example if you ran an ad that cost $20.00 for one day, if you ran the same ad the next day, it may only cost you $13.40. You may have to book in all your ads in advance to get that special rate, rather than booking them in one day at a time.

What Else (Do You Need To Think About)?

Use this section as a final checklist - once you're happy with your classified ad, run through and make sure you're ready to get started. Here are a few things you may not have thought of ...

Production: For example, you may need to take some new photos. Don't compromise here - people interpret a lot from photos, and a bad one can really put them off. If the publication wants finished artwork, you may need to send them a 'bromide' - a high quality print of the ad. Phone a printer and ask for some advice here. Also, make sure you check everything before it goes to print. Ask for a 'proof' (finished copy) from the publication and check it thoroughly - don't let anything go out with spelling mistakes or (and yes, it does happen), the wrong phone number. You probably won't be able to get a proof on line or semi-display ads.

Phone Scripts: There's hundreds of cases where a classified ad made the phone ring off the hook, but the business owner saw very few sales at the end of the day. It's all to do with 'conversion' - that is, how many inquiries you turn into sales. You need a script - a version of what you say to encourage people to buy. Just think about the best sales lines you've ever used, and compile them into one typed up script. Make sure you ask lots of 'open-ended questions' - that is, questions that start with who, what, where, why etc. Give a copy to every member of your team and make sure they USE it. And of course, make sure your team know that an advertisement has been placed and to EXPECT calls.

Check Stock and Staff Levels: It's unlikely your classified ad will bring in hundreds of people (very few actually do), but you need to be prepared for a sizable response. There would be nothing worse than running a successful ad then running out of stock, or being too busy to service these new inquiries. Plan for the ad - and make sure you can cater for any increased demand.

Legal Requirements: One thing that you need to be mindful of when advertising in the classified section of a newspaper, is your legal obligations. The laws surrounding classified advertising are quite strict. For example, car dealers who advertise in the Motor Vehicle section of the classifieds, are required by law to state their business name, license number and address or phone number. Licensed clubs must have the words “For the information of members and their guests”, in their classified ads.

If you're uncertain about the wording of your advertisement, or your legal obligations, ask your local newspaper and they'll be able to tell you.

Section 4 - Writing 'Killer' Headlines

If you're running a line or semi-display advertisement, then you'll probably only be able to use one or two words in your headline. But choosing the right one or two words, is crucially important to your campaign. We'll look at those two forms of classified ads later. Firstly, let's look at effective headlines for full display classifieds ...

Display Classifieds ...

The best headlines do 3 things - identify the right target market, provide benefits and generate enough interest to get them to start reading.

Let's look at each one in more depth ...

Identify The Right Target Market: You need to make sure that your target market see and read your ad. Your headline needs to immediately speak to them. There's nothing wrong with starting your headline with 'MOTHERS' or even 'ATTENTION Ladies 37-40 with no children'. Of course, there are other more subtle ways, such as 'Here's how to make your Ford go faster' or 'Help the kids succeed at school this year'.

Provide Benefits: You need to give your readers reasons to investigate further. Think about it - what is really going to make them want to read. A headline such as 'MEN: How you can have twice as much sex as you're having now ... guaranteed' speaks for itself. What can you say about your product or service - what is the main benefit? Once you've thought of that, try coming up with some more specific and interesting ways of phrasing it. For example 'How you can make an extra $4500 this year and pay off those credit card debts' is more interesting than 'How you can make more money'.

Generate Interest: There's nothing more powerful than curiosity. Compare these two headlines - 'AMWAY: a new future for you' and 'How you make $1100 extra per week, by meeting 3 new people a month'. Both are for the same company, but one holds more interest value and is more likely to get you reading. Try getting the main benefit across without telling the whole story, and getting a bit of mystery in there. Of course, too much mystery can kill your whole ad. Who'd read an ad with a headline such as 'Pure grunt', 'Big cheese' or 'Stilted'? No-one, as so many advertisers have discovered.

Headline Starters

This is where you get to write potential headlines for your ad. You'll get a sharper focus of what you want to really say to potential customers, as well as learning what makes a headline work ...

7 reasons ...

Firstly, write two headlines beginning with "7 reasons" ... Here are some examples ...

7 reasons YOU should call George's Widgets today ...

7 reasons to get your Widget from George's ...

Now it's your turn ...

Line and semi-display classifieds ...

Unlike display classifieds, line and semi-display classifieds are as a rule not big enough to allow headlines any larger than one or two words. However these words must be chosen carefully if your advertisement is to bring the desired results.

One of the easiest ways to write an effective headline for a line ad or semi-display classified, is to simply use the name of the product you're selling. For example if you're a gardening store selling hoses, you'd simply use the word 'Hoses' as your headline. If you're a car yard advertising a number of vehicles, use the brand name of your best car, for example 'Ford Falcon EB'.

The reason why this approach works so well, is simply that people who are looking in the classified section of their local paper will normally have a particular product in mind. So don't try to be too clever with your one or two word headlines, as this is a surefire way to miss the sale.

To demonstrate this let's look at our gardening store who are trying to sell hoses. If they were to run a headline that said 'Outstanding Quality' their product would be listed under 'O' in the For Sale section. But people looking to buy a hose, would look under 'H' for hoses. Understand that you need to keep it simple if you want it to work.

There are 2 types of headlines which most newspapers offer supposedly to assist you in making your product stand out. These are normally referred to as Impact and Attention Grabbing headlines. Let's look at each one individually ...

Impact ... These are one or two word headlines that are set in a larger point size than the rest of your ad. The increase in point size can be as much as double that of your body copy. These headlines are usually more expensive and are sold as being a great way to make your headline stand out.

You're probably thinking that this sounds like a good idea, particularly as we've already stated that the headline of a display ad should be much larger than the copy. But one of the downfalls of an impact headline is the fact that they're almost always set in all capitals. SETTING YOUR HEADLINE IN ALL CAPITALS CAN MAKE IT VERY DIFFICULT TO READ. A more effective, and cheaper way to make your headline, or first word, stand out is to use bold.

Attention Grabbers ... These headlines are also more expensive, costing more again, than an impact headline. Attention grabbers are large, and use unusual fonts and graphics to supposedly make them stand out. The problem is that these fonts are usually San Serif fonts that are more difficult to read.

One of the other concerns when looking at these types of headlines, is the fact that there can be dozens of them on the same page. This of course dramatically decreases their effectiveness. They are also, as a rule, a standard set of words and pictures such as ...

or

... which means that you can't have your product listed, in the alphabetical order that you want it in.

In the end anyone who's in the market for your type of product, will look for it in the most obvious alphabetical place. In other words, if they're looking for a Ford Falcon EB, they'll probably go straight to the 'F' section of the car listings. The trick is to make sure your Falcon is there when they're looking.

Section 5 - Creating Powerful Offers

So you've written a great headline, an exciting first paragraph and sub-headlines that tell a story. But what are you going to do to get your target market to respond? Great copy alone will not work, you need to have a strong offer, an offer that you would respond to.

So what is a great offer?

When thinking of what to offer your customers ask yourself - 'If I read this ad, would the offer be good enough to make me respond? If the answer is no, then go back to the drawing board. Without a great offer, you cannot achieve great results.

Another thing to consider when coming up with your offer, is the lifetime value of the people who respond to your ad. Taking a smaller profit in the short term will generally work out better in the long run.

Here's some examples of powerful offers ...

- Free haircut - For a hairdressing salon looking to increase its database.
2 Steak Dinners and 2 Glasses of Wine for $10 Restaurant recruiting members for its VIP Club.
- 1 New Release Video and a Large Pizza for $6 - Video store promotion to recruit new members.

All of these offers are worthwhile and sure to get a great response. Weak offers will cause your ad to fail. Understand that your offer is the part of your ad that gets your customers to act now, and to buy from you rather than your opposition.

Here's some examples of weak offers ...

- 10% Off - This is not a big enough discount to generate interest.
- Call now for your free color brochure - So what?
- Buy 9 and get the 10th for 1/2 price - No one would respond to this offer.

Types of offers ...

Here are some possible offers that would be worth considering ...

The Added Value with Soft Dollar Cost ...

Soft Dollar Cost refers to products, services or added extras that you can combine with your standard product to make it more attractive and increase its perceived value, but don't add much if anything to your costs.

For this strategy to be effective the added extra must have a high perceived value, in other words your customers must see the added benefit as being great value.

The Package Offer ...

By packaging products and services together you create a more marketable combination. There is a higher perceived value when products or services are packaged. Your customers will want to buy more, simply because of the extra products they get when buying a product they already want.

One of the best examples of a great package is computer equipment. Buy the hardware and receive the software for free. This style of offer is very attractive to potential customers.

Discounts vs. Bonus Offers ...

More often than not discounting will cost you profits. A far better way of clearing stock and generating extra trade is to have a 2 for the price of 1 sale. Or, try a buy one of these and get one of these FREE. The other way of putting this offer is every 10th purchase free, or when you spend $100, we'll give you $20 off your next purchase.

Valued at Offer ...

If you are including a free item in your ad, make sure you value them. For example - RING now for your FREE consultation, normally valued at $75. This positions your time, product, or service much more than a simple free give-away that people won't value or appreciate.

Time Limited Offers ...

Place a time limit on your offer, it will dramatically increase the response rate because it gives people a reason to respond right now. Place urgency in your offer ... For a short time only ... Call before such and such ... Only while stocks last. These will all create a sense of urgency in your consumers mind.

Guarantee Offers ...

Using a guarantee offer is a great way to boost the response to your ad. People will be far more willing to part with their money if you take the risk out of the buying decision. The better the guarantee you make the higher your response will be.

FREE Offers ...

Giving away something absolutely free (no catches whatsoever) is often a brilliant way to build a loyal customer base. Offer a "bribe" to get them in the door initially, then great service and products to encourage them to come back. This type of offer can reduce your "cost per lead" dramatically.

The 18 Most Asked Questions about Working with an ActionCOACH Business Coach

And 18 great reasons why you'll jump at the chance to get your business flying and make your dreams come true.

1. So who is ActionCOACH?

ActionCOACH is the world's #1 business coaching firm. Started in 1993 by founder and CEO Brad Sugars, ActionCOACH is the fastest growing company of its kind in the world, with offices and Business Coaches from Singapore to Sydney to San Francisco. From the start, ActionCOACH has been set up with you ... the business owner, in mind ...

As an alternative to conventional and costly consulting firms, ActionCOACH is designed to give you both short-term assistance and long-term training through its affordable and effective mentoring approaches.

After years of workshops, group coaching sessions and one-on-one coaching programs focused on our exclusive business building strategies, ActionCOACH has attracted more than 10,000 clients and more than 500,000 seminar attendees who will attest to the power of our programs ...

Based on sales, marketing, and business management systems, ActionCOACH not only shows you how to increase your business revenues and profits (often quite dramatically), but also how to develop your business so that you, as the owner, can work less, relax more and enjoy business ownership.

Our Business Coaches have substantial business experience, and are fellow business owners who have invested their time, money and energy to make their own various business ventures successful.

Your success truly does determine our success.

2. And, why do I need a Business Coach?

Every great performer, whether it is an athlete, business owner or entertainer, is surrounded by coaches or advisors.

As the world of business moves faster and gets more competitive, it's difficult to keep up with all the changes in your industry, in addition to running your business every day.

Just like great athletes find success by following the lead of a coach with a winning game plan, more business owners than ever before are turning to Business Coaches to help develop a winning game plan for their businesses.

Why?

First of all, it's very difficult to be truly objective about yourself.

A Business Coach can be objective for you, and can see the "forest for the trees."

A sports coach will make you focus on the game and will make you run more laps than you feel like. A good coach will also tell it like it is and will give you small pointers about the game and your competition. A great coach will listen and guide you to success.

Likewise, a Business Coach will make you focus on your business and hold you accountable to the things you should do and to where you want your business to be. A good Business Coach will also be your marketing manager, your sales director, your training coordinator, your partner, your confidant, your mentor and your best friend.

More importantly, your ActionCOACH will help you make your dreams come true.

3. What's an Alignment Consultation?

Great question. It's where an ActionCOACH starts with every business owner. You'll invest a minimum of 2 to 3 hours and your ActionCOACH will learn as much as he can about your business, your goals, your challenges, your sales, your marketing, your finances, and so much more.

All with three goals in mind: To know exactly where your business is now. To clarify your goals both in the business and personally. And thirdly, to get the crucial pieces of information he needs to create your businesses Action Plan for the next 12 months.

Not a traditional business or marketing plan mind you, but a step-by-step plan of ActionCOACH that you'll work through as you continue with the Mentor Program.

4. So, what is one-on-one coaching?

Simply put, it's one of our most popular programs, and it's the only program in which your ActionCOACH will work with you one-on-one for a full 12-months to make all of your goals a reality.

From weekly coaching calls and goal setting sessions to creating your new marketing pieces, you will develop new sales strategies and business systems so you can work less and learn all you need to know to make your dreams come true ...

Your monthly investment ensures your ActionCOACH will dedicate a minimum of 5 hours a month to work with you on your sales, marketing, team building, business development and every element of the ActionPLAN you created during your Alignment Consultation.

Unlike a consultant, your personal ActionCOACH will do more than just show you what to do; he or she will be with you when you need them most ... as each idea takes shape, as each campaign is put into place, as you need the little pointers to make things happen. Your ActionCOACH will also be there when you need someone to talk to, when you're faced with challenges, or most importantly, when you're just not sure what to do next.

Your ActionCOACH will be there every step of the way.

5. Why at least 12 months?

If you've been in business for more than a few weeks, you've seen at least one or two so-called "quick fixes" ... Most consultants seem to think they can solve all your problems in a few hours or a few days.

At ActionCOACH, we believe long-term success means not just doing it for you; it means doing it with you, showing you how to do it, working alongside you and creating success together.

Over the course of 12-months, you'll work on different areas of your business.

Each month, you'll not only see your goals become a reality, you'll gain both the confidence and the knowledge to make it happen again and again – even when your first 12-months of coaching is over.

6. . How can you be sure this will work in my industry and in my business?

ActionCOACH is expert in the areas of sales, marketing, business development, business management, and team building ... and, with literally hundreds of different profit-building strategies, you'll soon see how truly powerful our systemized approaches are.

Because you are the expert in your business and industry, together we can apply our systems to make your business more effective.

Because of our network of more than 1,000 offices around the world, there is not a business, industry or category our Business Coaches haven't either worked with, managed, worked in or even owned that is the same or very similar to yours.

Our extensive network means when you hire an ActionCOACH, you hire the full resources of the entire ActionCOACH team to find a solution for any and every challenge you may have. Imagine hiring a company with the collective knowledge of hundreds of experts ready to help you ...

7. Won't this just mean more work?

Of course, when you set the plan with your ActionCOACH, it may seem a bit overwhelming, but no one ever said attaining your goals would be easy.

In the first few months, it will take some work to adjust to your new plans ... but the further you work into the program, the less work you'll actually have to do.

You will, however, be amazed at how focused you'll be and how much you'll get done.

With focus, an ActionCOACH, and most importantly the ActionCOACH systems, you'll be achieving a whole lot more with the same or even less work and effort.

8. How will I find the time?

Again, the first few months will be the toughest, not because of an extra amount of work, but because of how differently you'll work. In fact, your ActionCOACH will show you how, on a day-to-day basis, to get more work done with much less effort.

In other words, after the first few months you'll find that you're not working more, just working differently. Then, depending on your goals, from about month six onwards, you'll start to see the results of all your work; and if you choose, you can start working less than ever before. Just remember, it's about changing what you do with your time ... NOT putting in more time.

9. How much will this cost?

Your investment will depend on the size of your business and the scope of our undertaking together. Your ActionCOACH will work this out with you so it will be appropriate for your business and the goals you want to achieve.

You'll find having an ActionCOACH is just like having a marketing manager, sales team leader, trainer, recruitment specialist and consultant – all for one nominal investment.

Everything you do with your personal ActionCOACH is a true investment in your future. Not only will you begin to create great results in your business, but you'll end up with an entrepreneurial education that is second-to-none. With that knowledge, you'll be able to repeat your business success over and over again in other ventures.

10. Will it cost me extra to implement the strategies?

Again, give your ActionCOACH just a half-hour and you'll be shown how to turn your marketing into an investment that yields sales and profits rather than just running up your expenses ...

We have a system that works. We know how to achieve our goals and can now leave our business and go on lengthy holidays.

In most cases, an ActionCOACH will actually save you money when that coach discovers areas that aren't working for you or your business. For some marketing programs, you will need to spend some money to make some money.

Yet, when you follow our simple testing and measuring systems, you'll never risk more than a few dollars on each campaign.

And when we find the campaigns that work, we make sure you keep profiting from them time and again.

Remember, when you default to the accounting way of saving costs, you can only add a few percentage points to your bottom line ...

Following the ActionCOACH formulas, your returns from your sales and marketing can be exponential.

11. Are there any guarantees?

Yes! As the leading coaching company in the world, we are also the only coaching company of any kind to guarantee our work ... and that you will get results!

Remember, though we are still your Business Coach ... and we can't do your work for you. You're still the player, and it will always be up to you to take the field.

We will push you, cajole you, help you, be there for you, and even do some things with you ... but in the end you've still got to do the work.

Ultimately, only YOU can ever be truly accountable and responsible for your own success.

We will guarantee to provide the best service and support available, to answer your questions and challenges promptly, and offer you the most current and appropriate processes and approaches.

Finally, we are fully committed to helping you become successful (whether you like it at the time) or not.

That's right. Once we've helped you set your goals and create your plan, we'll do whatever it takes to make sure that you achieve your goals ... at the same time promoting a balanced lifestyle as an overriding theme in all we do.

This is to ensure you never compromise either the long-term health and success of your or your company, or your personal values and what's most important to you.

12. What results have other business owners seen?

Everything from owners previously working 60 hours a week down to working just 10 ... right through to revenue increases 100's and even 1,000's of percent. Our results speak for themselves, and are highlighted by specific examples featuring real people with real businesses ... getting really great results.

There are three main reasons why this will work for you and your business. First, your ActionCOACH will help you get 100% focused on your goals and the step-by-step processes to get you there. This focus alone is amazing in its effect on you and your business results.

Second, your ActionCOACH will hold you accountable to get things done, not just the day-to-day running of the business, but for the dynamic growth of the business. You're making an investment in your success – and we're going to get you there.

Third, your ActionCOACH is going to teach you as many of our 328 profit building strategies as you may need.

So, whether your goal is to make more money, or work less hours ... or, both ... within a period of the next 12-months your goals can become a reality.

But don't take our word for it. Just ask any of the thousands of existing ActionCOACH clients, check out the results on our website or ask your ActionCOACH for a copy of our global testimonial DVD "Action Speaks Louder Than Words."

13. What areas will you coach me in?

We will work with you in five key areas ... and the emphasis in each will depend on you, your business, and of course, your goals.

These key areas are:

- Sales – The backbone for creating a profitable business, and one of the areas we'll help you get spectacular results in.
- Marketing & Advertising – If you want to make a sale, you've first got to find a prospect.

Over the next 12 months your ActionCOACH will teach you amazingly simple, yet powerful, streetwise marketing techniques and approaches that will drive profits.

- Team Building & Recruitment – You'll never just wish to find the right people again. You'll have motivated, passionate, enthusiastic, and loyal team members for your business when your ActionCOACH shows you how.
- Systems & Business Development – End the hopeless cycle of “the business running you” and begin running your business. We will show you the secrets of having your business “work” ... even when you're not there.
- Customer Service – Discover how to deliver your product or service consistently, making it easy for your customers to buy and leaving them feeling delighted with your service. Learn new ways to motivate your current customers to give you referrals and to ensure their repeat business. These are just two of the many strategies we will teach you.

14. Can you also train my people?

Yes ... in fact, we believe that training your people is almost as important as coaching you.

Your ActionCOACH can provide you and your business with many different training modules, including TeamRICH, SalesRICH, PhoneRICH and ServiceRICH. You'll be amazed at how much enthusiasm and commitment comes from your team as they experience each of our training programs.

15. Can you write ads, letters and marketing pieces for me?

Yes ... your ActionCOACH can do it for you. Your ActionCOACH can also train you to do it yourself, or simply critique the marketing pieces you're using right now ...

Should you want us to do it for you, you won't get just one piece. We'll design several for you to take to the market to test which one is the best performer. If it's just a critique you're after, we'll work through your piece and offer feedback in terms of what to change, how to change it and what else you should do to make it effective. Finally, we can recommend a variety of books or resource materials which provide a “home study” opportunity for you so you'll know how to do it yourself next time.

16. Why do you also recommend books and DVDs?

We do this to save you both time and money. You can learn the basics in your own time so when we get together we'll be working on higher level implementations rather than the basics ...

It's also a very powerful way for you to speed up the coaching process and get phenomenal – rather than just great – results.

17. When is the best time to get started?

Right now! Before you take another step, waste another dollar, lose another sale, work too many more hours, miss another family event, or forget another special occasion, you need to call ActionCOACH today.

Far too many business people wait and see ... mistaken in thinking that working harder will make everything better. Remember, what you know got you where you are today. To get where you want to go, you've got to make some changes and most likely, you'll have to learn something new ...

There's no time like the present to get started on your dreams and goals ...

18. So, how do we get started?

First ... you need to get back in touch with your ActionCOACH ... there's some very simple paperwork to sign and you're on your way ...

Next, you'll need to invest a few hours showing your coach everything about your business.

Together you'll get a plan created – and then the work really starts!

Remember, it may seem like a big job at the start, but with an ActionCOACH, you're sharing the load.

Together, we'll achieve great things!

How do I become an ActionCOACH Business Coach?

If you choose to invest your time and money in a great business and you're looking for a white-collar franchise opportunity to build yourself a lifestyle, an income, a way to take control of your life and, a way to get great personal satisfaction ...

Then you've just found the world's best team!

Now, it's about finding out if you've got what it takes to really enjoy and thrive in this amazing business opportunity.

Here are the 4 things we look for in every ActionCOACH:

1. You've got to love succeeding

We're looking for people who love success, who love getting out there and making things happen. People who enjoy mixing with other people, people who thrive on learning and growing, and people who want to charge an hourly rate most professionals only dream of.

2. You've got to love being in charge of your own life

When you're ready to take control, the key is to be in business for yourself, but not by yourself. Action's support, our training, our world leading systems, and the backup of a global team are all waiting to give you the best chance of being an amazing business success.

3. You've got to love helping people

Being a great Coach is all about helping yourself by helping others. The first time clients thank you for showing them step by step how to make more money and work less within their business, will be the day you realize just how great being an ActionCOACH Business Coach really is.

4. You've got to love a great lifestyle

Working from home, setting your own timetable, spending time with family and friends, knowing that the hard work you do is for your own company and, not having to climb a so-called corporate ladder. This is what lifestyle is all about. Remember, business is supposed to give you a life, not take it away.

Our business is booming and we're seriously looking for people ready to find out more about how becoming a member of the ActionCOACH business coaching team is going to be the best decision you've ever made.

Here's how you can network, get new leads, build yourself an instant sales team, learn, grow and build a great team of supportive business owners around you by checking into your local ActionCOACH ProfitCLUB

Joining your local ActionCOACH ProfitCLUB is about more than just networking, it's also the learning and exchanging of profitable ideas.

Embark on a journey to a more profitable enterprise by meeting with fellow, like-minded business owners.

An ActionCOACH ProfitCLUB is an excellent way to network with business people and business owners. You will meet every two weeks for breakfast to network and learn profitable strategies to grow your business.

Here are three reasons why ActionCOACH ProfitCLUBs work where other networking groups don't:

1. You know networking is a great idea. The challenge is finding the time and maintaining the motivation to keep it up and make it a part of your business. If you're not really having fun and getting the benefits, you'll find it gets easier to find excuses that stop you going. So, we guarantee you will always have fun and learn a lot from your bi-weekly group meetings.
2. The real problem is that so few people do any work "on" their business. Instead they generally work "in" it, until it's too late. By being a member of an ActionCOACH ProfitCLUB, you get to attend FREE business-building workshops run by Business Coaches that teach you how to work "on" your business and avoid this common pitfall and help you to grow your business.
3. Unlike other groups, we have marketing systems to assist in your groups' growth rather than just relying on you to bring in new members. This way you can concentrate on YOUR business rather than on ours.

Latest statistics show that the average person knows at least 200 other contacts. By being a member of your local ActionCOACH ProfitCLUB, you have an instant network of around 3,000 people
